Three jigsaw puzzles with 500 pieces each in a collector's slipcase with a price advantage

Come along and travel with the three My Family Puzzles to the jungle, to a colorful flower meadow and to northern Canada and discover the unique animals that live there. When all 500 pieces of the puzzle are put together, whimsical habitats with unique flora and fauna open up.

The jigsaw puzzles train concentration and fine motor skills in a playful way and offer the whole family lots of jigsaw fun.

Creative People:

Illustrator: As a child, Angelika Scudamore was not only a big fan of Beatrix Potter's illustrations, but also loved to draw herself. Before she became an illustrator, however, she first taught yoga classes for children and made up her own stories. Today, she carries a sketchbook with her wherever she goes and jots down any idea that comes to mind. She lives in South London and likes to stop in small cafés where she gets inspired by the people and the atmosphere.

Illustrator: Kaja Kajfež was born in a small charming town in Croatia. As a child, she often painted with her mother, kindling her love for illustration early on. Later, due to her interest in computer technology, she got a degree in Multimedia, Design and Application with a focus on visual communication. During her studies, she already began working as a freelance illustrator, which enabled her to establish her own illustration studio.

Illustrator: Jenny Palmer grew up in a city close to Nottingham and studied illustration and design at the University of Lincoln. She met her American spouse online through their shared love for video games. Today, they live together in Nottingham. She loves to bring bizarre scenes in her illustrations to life by using textured painting techniques and strong light effects, and to create detailed natural environments for cute animal characters to roam them.
