The popular street puzzle for children in a universal international design.

Something is up on this street! Overtake the baby whale in its racing aquarium, avoid the reading owl with its dangerously swaying pile of books or stop at the crosswalk with screeching tires. Whether an intersection, roundabout, curve or straight – with the 54 parts in a handy format, children from the age of four can build their streets the way they want. The colorful and charming illustrations guarantee lots of fun for young and old.
